

Philomena van Rijswijk writes poetry, short stories and novels. Her writing has won many prizes and has been published in a variety of Australian magazines including Island and 40° South. Esperance Press has previously published a small collection of her poetry, Trail of Bones and Godstones.

The author is of Irish origin and The Time It Rained Fish is based on her family history. Married and the mother of five children, van Rijswijk lives in the remote south of Tasmania.

‘Here is a writer with a very real talent... Her compact imagery is as fine as any I have read in Australian literature.’

-Geoff Dean

‘I consider her gift both a rare one and a necessary antidote to much that is being written from the concrete heart of our major cities.’

-Martin Flanagan

‘Truly a women’s book. Confronting... comforting... with a story that is like a tapestry of beautiful silk threads in incredible colours.’

-Karen Burgess

This project was assisted through Arts Tasmania
by the Premier, Minister for State Development

The Regional Arts Fund is a Commonwealth Government initiative through the Australia Council, its arts funding and advisory body

ISBN 1 876342 04 8

Copyright P. van Rijswijk 1999

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the prior permission of the publishers.

Published by

Esperance Press

as part of the series Writers of the Huon

Editor: Edith Speers

Cover Art & Illustrations: Margaret Kirk

Dover, Tasmania, Australia 7117
Ph (03) 62981036 Fax (03) 62981940
esperancepress.com.au

The Time It Rained Fish

Philomena van Rijswijk

For the start of the novel
'The Time It Rained Fish'
return to Esperance Press <Publications> and click on <Sample of Book>

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

*With much gratitude to: Edith Speers for her unflagging and generous support and enthusiasm;
Father William Wynne of Merrimack College,
Andover, Massachusetts,
for the story of Ellen Barry;
to Gay Brian and Cathy-Maree Barry for the story of the painting;
to Martin Flanagan for his much-appreciated encouragement;
to the people who read the draft manuscript:
Tony Rayner;
Geoff Dean;
and especially Karen Burgess, who took it to bed with her.*

*The poems quoted throughout this book are the work of many fine poets and translators whose work has appeared in publications by:
Macmillan General Books, Faber & Faber,
Oxford University Press, Aurum Press and McBooks.
Details of these publications and the original sources of the poetry are given in the Bibliography.*

The cover art and illustrations are the wonderful work of Margaret Kirk